FLAMBEAU

Leslie Set Aside

Snow Interim Editor

The Flambeau, under the direction of interim editor Sheila Snow, will be published on a weekly basis this summer but the issue of the paper's editorship won't be resolved until the fall.

Miss Snow, who has served as Flambeau sports editor, was unanimously appointed to the position last week by the now six-man Board of Student Publications. She will be in charge of the newspaper until the fall quarter when a permanent editor will be selected. Three of the BOSP members have either resigned or graduated.

Miss Snow's appointment grew out of controversy centered around claims that improper procedures were followed by the BOSP in last month's elections.

At that time, the Board first chose student activist Jack Lieberman, then Jacksonville graduate student Richard Leslie.

However, Judicial Affairs Dean Gerard A. Fowler recommended Leslie's appointment be set aside and Miss Snow was later named to fill the position of editor until the dispute can be settled.

Fowler said it was felt that too many students were away from campus now to even initiate recruitment of an editor, but a committee was already being chosen to screen potential applicants.

One proposal under consideration to settle the dispute is a task force to be appointed by President J. Stanley Marshall to look into all considerations of student publications, said Acting Vice President of Student Affairs Robert Kimmel.

"I think such a task force will be appointed in the near future," Kimmel said. "They will look into the problems, procedures and in effect make recommendations that will make all of Student Publications more effective and sensitive to the students."

The task force is shooting towards a fall deadline.

BOSP chairman Barry Mittan said it was necessary to put the Board back into operation to settle matters concerning the budget and Student Publications bids.

Opponents to the earlier selection of Lieberman as editor contended, among other things, that one Board member had actually prepared one candidate's application, and another had contacted an applicant "several times" to make certain that he met deadlines for filing his application.

It was also charged that several days before the election meeting took place, no fewer than four of the BOSP's five student members had openly committed themselves to Lieberman.

Fowler conducted a probe into the matter and came up with additional BOSP "lapses."

Candidates' academic grade average—a 2.3 is required to serve as Flambeau editor—were not checked and experience requirements, which include at least one academic year "in a responsible position on the university level" were not checked.

Fowler also found that some of the candidates were not required to submit three letters of recommendation, as stipulated by University regulations.

"The data elicited in the process of investigating this appeal reveals that the BOSP was without sufficient information, or failed to verify data before it, to an extent which prohibited it from selecting, in a responsible manner, the editor of the Flambeau," Fowler said about the appeal lodged by three BOSP members who charged improper procedures were used.

Conquering Heroes FSU's Number One

Florida State University's baseball team did not win the National Collegiate Athletic Association championships this year, but they came about as close as you possibly could without doing it.

After six grueling days of play under a torrid Omaha, Nebraska sky that seldom provided the Seminole conquerors a milder temperature than 95 degrees, Southern California shortstop Cal Meier raced across home plate in the 15th inning to give the Trojans their sixth NCAA crown. But FSU wasn't far behind.

It all started on May 27 when the Tribe began their quest in the districts at Gastonia, N.C. as ace righthander Gene Ammann, who had only the day before been named to the second team All-District team, shut out Southern Conference champion East Carolina and their fabled pitcher Ron Hastings who was named to the first team All-District. The score was 2-0.

The next afternoon it was Pat Osburn's turn as he blanked the Atlantic Coast Conference kings, Maryland, 2-1. The game marked the fourth time this season that the Seminoles had downed the Terrapins.

Then it was to the championship match against the tough Southeastern Conference champion Mississippi State. Led by the strong hitting of Ron Cash and some great defensive efforts on the part of all the Seminoles, especially Dick Nichols, FSU was able to counteract the hitting of the Bulldogs' Ken Still and win the district title by the score of 5-4. It was the fifth time they had won at Gastonia.

Two weeks later the club from FSU headed for Omaha in hopes of achieving the ultimate in college baseball competition, the NCAA crown.

Things started off well as the Seminoles opened the six-day tournament by facing Arizona, the number six team in the final

CPE Day Care Center Operating A Small Number

By Joe Siclari

Of the Flambeau Staff

The Student Government-sponsored children's Day-Care Center opened Monday under the direction of Mrs. Jean Scher and Mrs. Pat Desmond. The Center will operate in the First Presbyterian Church on Adams at Park Street. It will run Monday through Friday, 7:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m., until August 7 and will be for children ages three to five. There are currently 15 children enrolled in the program but the directors of the Center plan to provide for up to 30 children of non-academic FSU staff.

A controversy arose over the Day-Care Center when an injunction was filed in the Student Honor Court to stop $7,300 of Student Government funds from going to support the Center. Since then, the Center has passed through the student courts because its primary purpose has been stated as to provide educational learning experiences for students at Florida State.

Based on the results of the Center's summer program, Student Government hopes that State and University funds will be used to support the Center in the future. The pilot project was started this summer based on the hope of future government aid and if successful, the project might be expanded for up to 100 children this fall.

According to Mrs. Jean Scher, "The Center will not be just a play group but will be concentrated on teaching the children the learning concepts that they will face in kindergarten." Working at the Center, in addition to the co-directors, will be two full-time teachers, Miss Robin Core and Mrs. Brenda Stephens, and three teacher aides, Miss Barbara Ritey, Mr. Raleigh Jagger, and Miss Barbara Johnson. The Center, in conjunction with the Satellite lunch program, will also provide the children with a balanced diet consisting of breakfast, lunch and two afternoon snacks. There is a federal subsidy plan in progress to partly compensate for money spent on food.

As a student-supported venture, the Day-Care Center has been placed under the Center for Participant Education by Acting Vice President for Student Affairs Robert B. Kimmel. The Center will actually be controlled by a student board of directors and is under the direction of Mrs. Desmond and Mrs. Scher. The Center will also be used for intern training for FSU and FAMU students under the direction of Dr. Nancy Douglas for the Institute of Human Development of Florida State's College of Education.

Interested students may also work on the project as a DIS and should contact Neta Kings, director of CPE, for information in Room 331 University Union.

To determine whether the Day-Care Center is an education-oriented program, student and teacher attitude evaluations will be given at the end of the term. These evaluations will test attitudes about parents, working with low income groups and any changes in these attitudes which the Center may effect.

A BEGINNING—for other photos of the Day-Care Center see page 6.

Students who have not obtained a new computer punched identification card must do so by Friday, June 26, 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. in the Media Center located across the street from Landis Green.

The Strozier Library has announced that no students may check out books after Friday, June 26, unless they have the new ID which is also required to cash checks at the Student Depository and receive medical attention at the University Health Center.

Sunland Receives Work Grants

A federal grant totaling $15,614 has been awarded to the Florida Division of Retardation to employ 35 students for a two-month summer period in the State's six Sunland Training Centers and Hospitals, the Division announced today.

The students will be paid $220 a month for two months of work at the Sunland institutions under the Student Work and Training (SWEAT) Program provided by the U.S. Department of Health, Education and Welfare.

The program begins July 1 and will continue through August 28, and is open to high school seniors as of September 1970 or a high school graduate accepted by a college and junior college freshmen and sophomores.

Applicants must apply for the jobs directly at the Sunland Training Centers and Hospitals located in Marianna, Tallahassee, Gainesville, Orlando, Miami and Fort Myers.

The Division announcement suggested that students should apply for the appointments at centers nearest their homes, since the program does not provide funds for room, board, provisions, or transportation.

The SWEAT program is intended primarily, the Division said, to interest students in mental retardation efforts because the field is in need of professionally trained workers, psychologists, therapists, social workers, teachers, nurses, researchers, recreation supervisors, and business and administrative personnel.

Summer quarter hours for the Strozier Library are as follows:
8 a.m.-11 p.m. Monday through Thursday
8 a.m.-10 p.m. Friday and Saturday
2 p.m.-11 p.m. Sunday

Kilenyi, Stroom Music Recital

Edward Kilenyi and James Stroom, representing the old and new music faculty at Florida State, will team up to give their first two-piano recital together on Tuesday, June 30.

Recital time is 8:15 p.m. in Opperman Music Hall at Florida State, and is being presented as the first in the Summer Music Camp faculty concert series this summer.

The program will begin with Schumann's Andante and Variations, the great classic of two-piano romantic literature. A feature of the program will be Franz Liszt's Concerto Pathetique for two pianos, in what is probably its first public performance in Tallahassee.

Both Kilenyi and Stroom have been known as Liszt specialists at some time in their respective careers.

Seven of the ever-popular Brahms Hungarian Dances will be played in the original piano duo version to complete the program.

Concert appearances by Kilenyi have included extensive tours in 12 European countries besides the U.S., highlighted by performances with the foremost symphony orchestras. He was a student of the late Ernst von Dohnanyi in Budapest, Hungary.

Stroom studied with Joseph Raiferl at the Juilliard School of Music in New York City, and later with Arthur Loesser and Theodore Lettvin.

Other faculty concerts to be included in the Summer Music Camp series include Elena Nikolaidi, mezzo-soprano and James Hopkins, tenor on July 7; Harry Schmidt, clarinet and Ralph Montgomery, trumpet, July 21 and on July 28, Janet Worth, bassoon and David Wingate, baritone. All concerts are open to the public.

Veterans' Home Bill

Florida Division of Veterans Affairs would like to remind all returning veterans that they may be eligible for Federal GI Home Loans. In order to be eligible for GI loans, veterans must be discharged or released from active duty under other than dishonorable conditions.

M. T. Dixon, the division director, said eligible veterans who served after January 31, 1955, have a maximum of 20 years from the date of their discharge or until March 3, 1976, whichever is later, to take advantage of their GI Home Loan benefits.

In order to determine the expiration date of his own eligibility, Dixon said, each individual veteran must apply a specific formula. His own deadline date is arrived at by adding ten years to his date of discharge/release from active duty, plus one year for each three months of active duty. Thus a Vietnam veteran with two years of service, for example, would have some 18 years following his discharge to use his GI loan entitlement.

A number of WW II and Korean War veterans still have GI Home Loans entitlement remaining. The same formula mentioned above must be applied to these veterans. Their deadline date has not yet passed, they are eligible to participate in the GI loan program. It should be remembered, however, that eligibility for all WW II veterans will expire automatically July 25, 1970, unless Congress again extends the deadline.

The Veterans Administration, according to Mr. Dixon, recently announced that nationally some 254,383 applications for VA loan guarantees were received for the 12-month period ending this past fiscal year. This figure compares favorably with that for the same period the year before, and the totals for 1968-69 were the highest since 1957, when large numbers of WW II and Korean veterans applied for GI loans.

For further information on this or your other veterans affairs, Dixon suggests that you contact your local County Veteran Service Office or write him at P.O. Box 1437, St. Petersburg, Florida, 33731, or visit your nearest VA office.

Committee Seeks Student Affairs VP

By John Cunningham
Of the Flambeau Staff

Last fall FSU President Stanley Marshall appointed Robert B. Kimmel to serve as Acting Vice President for Student Affairs until a permanent replacement for Colonel Arnold could be found. Search committee consisting of 16 students and faculty has been established to review candidates for this position.

Heading this committee is Dr. Gregory Choppin of the Chemistry Department. Other faculty members include: Dr. Melvane Hardee, Education; Dr. Larry Barker, Speech; Dean

Students on the committee are Chuck Sherman, Student Body President; John Burt, Student Body Vice President; Kathleen Hall; Wayne Rubinas, former Student Body Vice President; Annette Gibbs; Edward Jacobs; Jeanne Keiser; and Mike Rhaney, a member of the Florida State basketball team.

This committee has collected approximately 50 names of possible candidates from all over the nation. Following a preliminary investigation, these names were put into three categories or priorities. Those in the top priority are invited to campus and are interviewed by the committee.

Dr. Choppin hopes to make a recommendation to President Marshall as soon as possible. However, he feels that it is unlikely that the position will be filled for the fall term.

Summer Non-Credit Fall Credit Courses

The Student Government-sponsored Center for Participant Education is offering two courses this summer. Basic Magic (formerly Goetic Theory) will be offered at 5 p.m. on Wednesdays in Room 352 of the Union. Philosophies of Contemporary Left Movements started by Rick Johnson will meet from 12:30 to 1:10 p.m. on Thursdays in Room 64 Bellamy. Both courses are being taught on a non-credit basis.

CPE still needs people to work in the Day Care Center for the children of non-academic employees. Also needed are people interested in participating in encounter groups. Those interested in these activities may sign up in the Student Government office, 331 Main.

Courses in Psychotropic Drugs, North American Indians, Campaigning Techniques, Parapsychology, and Ecology will be offered this fall for credit. Other possibilities for credit will be Astrology, Philosophies of Contemporary Left Movements, a one-hour seminar on contemporary events, and a one-credit-hour course for people who work more than 10 hours a week in Student Government. Non-credit courses will include Demonology, History of Comics, Black Theater, and Reality Therapy.

String Symposium

Highlighting the 1970 Annual String Symposium being held this week at Florida State will be a string concert during which the degree of Honorary Doctor of Music will be presented to world-renowned cellist Gregor Piatigorsky.

The concert and degree presentation ceremony will be at 8:15 p.m. Friday, June 26, in Coperman Music Hall. There is no admission charge and the public is invited to attend the concert and degree presentation.

Piatigorsky and eight of the world's most well-known string performers will make up the staff of artists for the week-long symposium.

Among the participants will be Paul Doktor, concert and recording artist and teacher of viola at Mannes School of Music, New York; and violinist William Kroll, a faculty member at Queens College who has appeared as soloist with leading symphony orchestras.

Also appearing will be Samuel Mayes, principal cellist with the Philadelphia Philharmonic Orchestra and teacher at the Philadelphia Music Academy; Henry Portnoi, principal bassist with the Boston Symphony and teacher at the New England Conservatory of Music and the Berkshire Music Center; and Ruth Posselt, violinist and artist-in-residence at FSU, who is acclaimed internationally as violin recitalist and as soloist with the major orchestras.

From The Editor's Desk

"To be or not to be," that was the question which crossed the minds of the Florida State community this week, speculating on the production of a summer Flambeau. Unfortunate incidents occurring this past spring concerning the Board of Student Publications almost crippled necessary communications on this campus.

The irregularities and responsibilities charged against the Board have been temporarily dismissed with the BOSP regaining its power of operation except in cases which would involve major changes in the publications area.

President Stanley Marshall is taking appropriate action to prevent any future catastrophes which may deprive the students of a daily newspaper (weekly in the summer) by appointing a task force which will investigate the entire publications operations and seek strengths and weaknesses in the yearbook, literary magazine, humor magazine and newspaper.

A thorn in the side of FSU publications is the annual financial losses suffered as a result of printing Smoke Signals, the humor magazine and the literary magazine, Legend. With production costs approximately $600 for each medium, sales are extremely low causing monetary repercussions as well as cost and valuable floor space in storing the 1,500 issues of both magazines left unsold. Although a small portion of the student body sees literary value in these publications, are they really worthwhile for that one-sixteenth of the community?

For the first time in 22 years of coed existence, Florida State has captured the all-sports title in the State of Florida, a feat which reflects the quality of our athletic department. Winning 14 percent more of our contests than rival University of Florida is enough to put a gig in their gator tails.

Most deserving of recognition is the FSU baseball team which recently returned from the national contest in Omaha, Nebraska. These young men fought a gallant battle to the finish and although they came back second place, they will always be number one in our hearts.

A round of applause should go to the Tallahassee community for their never-failing support of the Seminoles and also to the University as supporters drowned Western Union with their wishes, tuned in their radios for the performances, flew to Nebraska for the finals and crowded the airport to congratulate our returning Tribes.

Conflict on Marijuana

To the Editor:

I would like to comment on the drug report published by the office of Attorney General Earl Faircloth and reported in the Flambeau. Although no source was given, I assume that there was one, and I consider that to be an important part of the report. The conducting agency of a study and the conditions under which it was conducted play the biggest role in determining whether the report is valid or not.

In the October 1969 issue of Playboy magazine, an article by Joel Fort, M.D., completely contradicts the paragraph concerning marijuana in the Faircloth report. Fort's article, entitled "Pot, a Rational Approach," deals with the whole spectrum of the marijuana "problem" in the U.S. and includes several studies that have been done on the subject, all completely documented.

Some quotes from the results of these studies will suffice to point out the differences between them and Faircloth's report.

Faircloth's paragraph on marijuana described a "rapid heart beat and lowering of body sugar levels." In Fort's article: "Marijuana causes a moderate increase in heartbeat rate..." "Pot does not affect the blood-sugar level, as alcohol does..."

Faircloth asserts that: "Decision-making, clear thinking, and reflexes are also affected." Fort's article differs radically on this point. Some examples:

"Both inexperienced subjects and long-time users did equally well on some tests for concentration and mental ability, even while they were on very high doses. On tests requiring a higher ability to focus attention, the inexperienced users did show some temporary impairment, but the veterans sailed right on through, as if they were not high at all. In short, experienced potheads do not have even a temporary lowering of the intelligence while they are high, much less a permanent mental impairment."

Faircloth's evident opinion of marijuana is completely the opposite of Fort's, summed up in this statement by him:

"In short, we seem to have a drug here that makes many users very euphoric and happy—high—without doing any of the damage done by alcohol, narcotics, barbiturates, amphetamines, or even tobacco."

There seems to be a slight inequity in the two reports, and since Fort has supplied us with his references, I for one would like to know where Mr. Faircloth got his information, wouldn't you?

41 Bills Pass

C-70's Success

To the Editor:

The legislature has gone home; its record is available to the public. Now is the time for sensitive, politically conscientious persons to evaluate this experiment in people's democracy which was and may continue to be Conservation 70's (C-70's).

All over this country different groups such as the Audubon Society, Isaac Walton League, and the Sierra Club have fought continuous regard actions against the ever-expanding and destroying civilization of man. Here in Florida all of these organizations and many more joined to conduct an experiment in the use of political power. Their vehicle was a taxable, profit-making organization legally allowed to have lobbyists on the bill, and it was called Conservation 70's.

Late last summer in Orlando, conservation minded citizens, legislators, and scientists got together and hammered out a package of 55 bills. At the same time, fund raising was begun and it met with success. When the spring session convened several lobbyists headed by Lovell Loring were waiting with their bills prepared in a suite of offices on the third floor of the Dorian Building.

The record shows two pairs of bills merged to reduce the number of bills to 53 of which 41 passed both the House and Senate. A record like this reminds one of our baseball team—weren't they both a success?

Next month in Orlando those Floridians that care about their environment will meet to discuss the future of C-70's. Will you be there? Do you care?

"Nothing is so certain as that the evils of idleness can be shaken off by hard work."

Power To People A Seen Necessity

To the People:

I have come home to Tallahassee from Washington, D.C. and I want to express my views of the events there. I was a member of the so-called "silent majority." I don't go to college or belong to any political group. I went to D.C. out of concern over the Cambodian action and the Kent student murders.

What we have to do now is organize people, not just students, but everyone to knock on doors and tell people to write their senators and tell them how they feel about the Vietnam War.

We have to organize the church groups to tell their people at Sunday masses about the immoralities of the war.

We have to go into the black community and help them organize to stop the oppression they have lived under for years.

The working people, like myself, must be informed of the facts. This is their country too, and they are as concerned as the students.

People everywhere must be told this is not a hippie movement, not a radical movement, not a student movement, but a people movement. This country belongs to the people and we have to get it back to the people.

Organize now to stop the war. Tell your neighbors to write their elected representatives and sign petitions. Power to the People.

Annual Affair

Tallahassee Boys State

By John Cunningham
Of the Flambeau Staff

It's summer again and with it comes the usual visits to the pool, teachers scrambling for air conditioned rooms, and hundreds of boys in T-shirts marching around the campus. These boys are part of a program known as Boys State which is sponsored each year by the American Legion.

Originating in 1935 in Illinois, Boys State quickly spread across the nation reaching Florida in 1940. Except for a few years during World War II, this program has been an annual affair. Boys State has many functions but its main purpose, according to Director Robert A. Francis, is "to acquaint the youth with the government and help promote good citizenship."

This year 529 high school juniors from all over the state are divided up into a miniature state, each boy being a citizen. However, the acquainting process begins before they arrive in Tallahassee. Each future citizen is sent a questionnaire on the governmental system of this state which requires research and often a trip to the county courthouse.

Upon arrival at Florida State, the boys are housed in Smith Hall with each floor being a county containing two cities, one on each half of the floor. The government on the local level is organized. A mayor and city council are elected. The mayor promptly appoints officials such as chief of police and city attorney, allowing each city to function fully with laws and a court to prosecute anyone who commits an infraction.

In the county caucus, county commissioners, a county judge and other officials are elected and each city elects three senators and seven representatives to the Boys State Legislature. In the legislative chambers, bills are introduced, amended and voted upon by the same procedure used in the Florida legislature.

The entire state is divided into two parties, the Federalists and the Nationalists, with conventions to elect candidates for the state offices, including the governor. On Thursday night, the candidates and their platforms will be presented accompanied by short demonstrations with balloting and the announcement of winners following.

Friday marks their inauguration with free campus time in the afternoon. This practice has become one of the secondary purposes of Boys State, that is, to allow the boys to visit a college campus and talk to students to gain an insight into college life.

Side interests to the citizens include a School of Peace Officers, a School of Civil Service, and a School of Law; with a bar examination.

From the hundreds of citizens at Boys State, two delegates and two alternates are chosen to represent the state in Boys Nation held in Washington, D.C. in July.

Saturday the boys will be sent home after final inspection with friendships made which will leave many memories. Many men in governmental positions started their careers at Boys State and never fail to recognize its importance and value to those fortunate enough to attend.

Hardluck Seminoles Number Two

baseball poll with a 44-16 record. Once again it was the Seminoles' fantastic pitching staff that came through as Ammann picked up his 15th win and eighth shutout of the season as the Seminoles knocked off the Wildcats, 4-0.

In the game Ammann gave up only two hits and struck out 11.

The very next afternoon the Seminoles stayed in the winners bracket by skunking Ivy League champion Dartmouth 6-0. Pat Osburn pitched one of his strongest games of the season in this one as he allowed only four hits and struck out 14. For Dartmouth, it was their first loss in 22 games.

In the game, FSU's star centerfielder Greg Schnute injured his ankle. He did not return for the remainder of the tournament.

The win by FSU set up what was to be the biggest game in the tourney up till that point as the number three Seminoles faced the second-ranked Texas Longhorns and their ace pitcher

Burt Hooten. As it turned out, Hooten was not too effective but the Steers' bats were as they stung Mike Slade for 11 hits and five runs in seven innings. This was enough to knock off FSU 5-1.

It was now do or die as the Tribe took on Ohio University the next night. Coach Jack Stallings, pulling one of the biggest gambles of his career, started Tom Henson instead of his ace Ammann. After not pitching in over a month, Henson came through with a four hit effort and shut out the Bobcats, with a little help from Mac Scarce, 2-0.

The Ohio game was a scoreless tie until the eighth when with two outs and two men on base, Dick Nichols pulled off a perfect suicide squeeze bunt and the pitcher for the bunch from Ohio threw the ball into rightfield, allowing the Tribe two runs to score.

Texas was next on tap again and the Seminoles, with revenge on the mind and Ammann on the mound, slaughtered the Longhorns 11-2 in one of the sweetest wins of the season. Ammann picked up his 16th win with an impressive seven hitter but it was the Seminole bats that did most of the damage to eliminate Texas, who had lost the night before to Southern California in a 14-inning thriller,

John Grubb and Harry Saferight were the big guns for the Tribe. Grubb went four-for-four, scoring two runs and driving in two more while Saferight drove in four more tallies with two two-run singles.

That left all the marbles on the line the next evening as the contest, leaving it up to reliever John Ferguson to hold off the Trojans.

Ferguson worked his way through the fifth and sixth but in the seventh, Lady Luck struck again. With two outs and two strikes on the batter, Ferguson let a pitch get away from him and hit the Southern Cal batter.

Seminoles, with pitcher Pat Osburn, took on Southern Cal. FSU got the ball rolling in the fifth when with fleet-footed Mike Porter on base, Trojan pitcher Greg Wildman threw a slow-tapper by Osburn into rightfield, allowing Porter to score what was destined to be the only run the Seminoles were to manage for the evening.

On the play, however, Osburn, rounding first base, had fallen hard on his right knee and could not continue in the game. Four batters and two pitchers later with Slade, Mac Scarce came in and struck out his Trojan foe to end the inning but not before the men from California had tied the score at 1-1.

Alwin, Huber Lead Tribe Linksmen Into Nationals

For the third straight year and the fifth time overall, Florida State has a team represented in the NCAA Golf Championships at the Ohio State University course in Columbus.

The tourney got underway Monday and will conclude Friday.

The Seminoles, under Coach Scott Fletcher, have turned in a remarkable tournament record this spring and are one of seven squads from District III represented in the 56-team field.

"We are very proud to have been selected one of the teams to represent the South," said Fletcher, who completes his first year as Tribe coach. "The boys have played with this goal in mind and I am very happy for them that they got the bid."

"This is a very well balanced club. We do not have one or two 'hotshots' who carry the team and then fill out. The scores of our top four or five are usually very close and almost always in the top ten."

Fletcher has sent six men to the tourney, although only five play and only the low four for 72 holes will count toward the championship.

"We have the extra man as a safety valve in case one of our others gets sick."

Mark Alwin is the head of the Seminole contingent at Columbus. A sophomore, he came on fast and became the Tribe's most consistent performer this season. A definite All-America candidate, he has not finished lower than seventh in any tournament this season.

Joining Alwin is John

Calabria, Mike Cheek, Bobby Huber and Jim Keedy. Freshman John Ruby is the alternate.

The Seminoles captured five of the seven tournaments they played in this spring, including the Florida Intercollegiate Championships and Cape Coral Invitational Championships.

Galloway Tenth In National Decathlon Title

Charlie Galloway and Ken Misner, the two top runners on the Florida State track team, competed this past weekend in the NCAA Championships this past weekend in Des Moines, Iowa with both making fairly respectable showings for themselves.

Galloway, showing his versatility as an athlete, took part in the decathlon and finished tenth out of a field of 17 men. His point total for the meet was 6,500 points while his previous high, set three weeks ago in a meet in Atlanta, Ga., was 6,700.

Galloway's tenth place finish, however, did not totally reflect his performance as the 6-3 blond-haired star won three of the ten events and finished second in another. The 100, 400, and 1500 meters were all victories while he took second in Leon were running down a highway near Ocala. Three men in a car pulled off the road and assaulted the two, breaking Misner's nose and doing other minor damage. Charges have been filed against the men.

In its continual drive towards national prominence, the Florida State track team has signed three hot prospects that look as if they will be able to fill the few holes the Seminoles have in their roster due to the graduation of seniors.

The first of these is Jim Buck, the national Junior College Javein champion from Seminole Junior College. His best effort for the season is 233 feet, which is good enough to break the FSU school record by seven feet.

Snapper Starnes is another of the signees from Leon High here in Tallahassee. Starnes was a hurdler during most of his high school career but also runs a good 440 so he should become a top intermediate hurdler in the next few years.

Another top prospect comes in the form of Gary Hill, a school boy from Winter Park, Fla., who was the state champion in the discus with a heave of 176 feet. Another of the high hurdles. His downfall was in the field events where he took dead last in the shotput, discus and javelin.

See HOT, pg. 9

Though happy with Galloway's performance, Assistant Coach Dick Roberts felt that given a little more time to practice, Galloway could have been right in the thick of things. During the season, he usually competed in only the triple and long jumps and decided only about two months ago to try for the decathlon crown.

Galloway had also qualified for the nationals in the triple jump, but decided to withdraw from the event so he could devote all his energies towards the goal.

Misner, shaking off a broken nose and other multiple injuries suffered as a result of a mugging as the ace distance runner was practicing, ran in the six mile event for the first time this year and finished 15th for his day's efforts.

Misner had run the one and three mile races for most of the season but decided to try the six because of his phenomenal endurance ability. Inexperience, however, may have cost him a few places as he started out too fast and slipped back near the end.

The assault incident occurred as Misner and new FSU signee Mark O'Brien of Tallahassee

Season Tickets Selling Out Fast

More than 50 percent of Florida State's 1970 season football ticket applicants have requested seats in the new Athletic Scholarship Fund section.

"The new program has been well received," said ticket manager Claude Thigpen. "I am tremendously encouraged. In fact, ticket sales are ahead of this time last season and I feel we will better the record set in 1968."

Contributors to the Scholarship Fund automatically become Seminole Boosters and this entitles them to priority seating between the 35 and 50 yard lines, reserved parking and a weekly newsletter from Coach Bill Peterson during the season.

Season tickets for six Campbell Stadium games are $42 plus 35 cents handling charge. Master Charge and Bank Americard may be used for purchases.

Barton New Coach

Former world and collegiate record holder, Bill Barton is Coach Bim Stults' swimming assistant at Florida State University, it was announced by Athletic Director Vaughn Mancha.

Barton comes to Florida State from Pine Crest Prep School in Ft. Lauderdale where he has been head coach for the past four years.

While attending Indiana University, Barton held the collegiate and world marks in the 200 individual medley and the 200 butterfly. During his college career he was also the national AAU champion in those two events.

Hot

Hill's outstanding features is that he has run a 100-yard dash in 10.0 seconds which makes him a top decathlon and pentathlon prospect as well.

Earlier this season FSU delved deep into the pool of high school talent in the Pinellas County area when it picked up Joel Garren of Manatee High School and Bobby Brooks of North and Bobby Brooks of North High.

Nichols, Cash All-District III

Florida State was the lone school to place two players on the first All-District III baseball club; it was named to the third squad as the Seminoles were represented by second baseman Dick Nichols and third baseman Ron Cash.

Seminole righthander Gene Ammann, 13-0 for the season not including the tournament games, was picked on the second team and lefthander Pat Osburn, 11-2, was named to the third club.

Nichols, hitting .382 going into the College World Series in Omaha, Neb., has broken the Seminole record for hits (76), stolen bases (32) and doubles (17).

Cash is the Seminoles' second leading hitter with a .346 average and is the club's leading RBI man with 41. His 94 total bases were second only to Nichols' 109 while his six triples were a club high.

The all-star team was selected by the District III coaches.

Seminole Quartet Turns Big Brothers

A quartet of FSU star athletes, two from FSU's outstanding basketball team, and the others from Coach Peterson's football team, have banded together to form a Sports Corps Big Brothers Association in order to become involved with the youthful residents of Criswell House, the Florida Division of Youth Service's halfway house in Tallahassee. They will not only engage in pickup sports with the boys but also act as big brother mentors and role models to whom the kids can turn to with problems of living and adjustment.

Dave Cowens, the star of the 1969 FSU quintet who recently signed a $270,000 contract to play professional ball with the Boston Celtics, is a core member of the group along with Skip Young who amassed a total of 361 points. Young is expected to be the top scorer of the 1970 team.

Mike Grey, the outstanding split end of the football team, has joined forces with Cowens, Young and Kim Hammond, the former star quarterback who is now playing professional ball with the Boston Patriots and also attending FSU's law school.

They have decided that admission to the group will be by election on the part of the current members.

Dr. Alexander Bassin, associate professor of criminology in whose classes the athletes learned about Criswell

GREY

House, is acting as faculty consultant to the Sports Corps Big Brothers Association. He notes, "We welcome this move on the part of Cowens, Grey, Hammond and Young to engage as mentors with boys whose life history is usually devoid of involvement with responsible people who have made an outstanding success in a field of activity that enjoys high status in our society.

"This interaction will surely prove of benefit not only to the kids from Criswell House but to the athletes as well. I hope this kind of service can become part of the treatment program of institutions for juvenile offenders all over the country.

Sale of season football tickets continues at a record pace, according to University of Florida Athletic Ticket Manager Ray Dorman, with a current total of 20,672 sold.

"Thus far we have sold some 5,000 more than at this date last year and almost 2,000 more than we sold all of last year," said Dorman. "We still have season tickets for sale on a non-priority basis and I anticipate our sales approximating 25,000 before sales end."

Florida capped another outstanding season in varsity swimming with the naming of a school record-nine All-Americans for 1970.

Bruce Williams of Eustis, Fla. heads the list, earning All-America honors in four events and becoming a three-year honor winner of Coach Bill Harlan who was recently named the Gator Go-Coach of the Year 1969-70 with ex-head football coach Ray Graves.

Florida track coach Jimmy Carnes has been selected to participate in a specialized training program for future Olympic games, hopefully to be held July 13-August 2 at Duke University in Durham, N.C.

Five young golfers will represent the University of Florida in the NCAA Championships June 23-26 at Columbus, Ohio.

The five are sophomores Andy North, David Barnes, Mike Killian and Joel Eastman and freshman Stacy Russell. The Gator youngsters finished third in the SEC this season.

Ammann Signs Juicy Milwaukee Contract

Gene Ammann, FSU's ace righthanded pitcher who compiled a 15-0 record for the 1970 season as a Seminole, has signed a $12,000 plus pact with the Milwaukee Brewers of the American Baseball League.

Exact details on the contract were not known but it was thought that the Brewers were giving Ammann a $12,000 bonus for his signature plus added incentives which would add to his bonus plus regular rookie pay.

Ammann seemed extremely pleased with the contract. It assured him of a chance at the majors next year as he will be on the Brewer roster for spring training instead of a rookie camp.

Meanwhile, the Brewer organization has assigned

Ammann to the Jacksonville Suns, an AA team in the Southern League.

"The name of the game is to get to the big leagues," said Ammann after signing, "and it seems the Brewers need some pitching help." This is an understatement as Milwaukee has for the season a combined earned run average of over five per game.

Seminoles Drafted

Five players from Florida State were selected recently in the annual free agent baseball draft conducted by the major leagues and held in New York.

Gene Ammann, the Seminole fireballing righthander, was one of the top picks of the lowly Milwaukee Brewers who are certainly in need of a top major league pitching prospect like Ammann. A few days later Ammann signed his 1970-71 contract with the Brewers for $12,000 plus and was assigned to Jacksonville in the Southern League.

Another of the top players on the Seminole squad was ace lefthanded pitcher Pat Osburn who was chosen in the ninth round by the Cincinnati Reds. This marked the fourth time in as many years that Osburn has been deemed good enough by the pro scouts to be chosen. St. Louis drafted him while in high school at Clearwater, Fla.

And not to be denied, Mike Slade, the other top FSU starting pitcher, was chosen by the Washington Senators, a team he hopes he is able to come to terms with.

Two other Seminole players were chosen. One was star second baseman Dick Nichols who was chosen fairly early in the draft by the Boston Red Sox.

The other was John Grubb, the Seminole flash rightfielder who was picked by the Atlanta Braves.

Tribe Finish Third In Final Poll

Florida State's highly touted baseball team finished third in the final baseball poll conducted by the Collegiate Baseball Magazine.

Southern California, the team who led in the poll for all but two of the weeks it was put out, won the prestigious title with a total of 285 points. Texas finished second in the final tally with 279 while the Seminoles managed 276 points.

It was closest voting in the history of the poll. The top eight teams in the poll were also the eight who went to Omaha last week to compete in the College World Series.

The standings and point totals of the poll are as follows:

University Division: 1. Southern California 285 2. Texas 279 3. Florida State 276 4. Ohio University 251 5. Iowa State 247 6. Arizona 232 7. Dartmouth 220 8. Delaware 191 9. Ohio State 179 10. Mississippi State 164.

College Division: 1. Eastern Michigan 196 2. Valley State 191 3. Nichols State 189 4. New Haven 170 5. Northeast Louisiana 149 6. Chapman 147 7. Southwest Missouri 140 8. Central Washington 129 9. Springfield 114 10. William Jewell 112.

Stallings Is District Number One Manager

Ball

That strikeout by Scarce started one of the most phenomenal stories of the Series as the usually short-stint Scarce, who had not gone more than four innings all season, just kept pitching and pitching, hoping his teammates would get him that one all-important run. They didn't, however.

Then in the 15th inning, the longest game in College World Series history, Scarce developed a small blister on his pitching finger. The result was obvious as he walked the first batter and Stallings wisely pulled the big lefthander in favor of Carl Gromek.

Gromek was ineffective to the first two batters he faced, giving up a single and a walk to lead the bases with no one out. Then Trojan Frank Alfonso hit an "excuse me" dribbler to Gromek's left which looked like a good ball for a force at the plate. Gromek jumped off the mound and picked up the ball but as he pivoted to throw, he fell on his stomach. Meier scored and it was all over for the Seminoles.

Florida State baseball coach Jack Stallings was named the District III Coach of the Year after he led his rough Seminole baseball team to the District crown in Gastonia, N.C. over such teams as Mississippi State, Maryland and East Carolina.

His winning the district honors now makes him eligible for the national title which will be decided in January at a mid-winter convention of the coaches organization. The meeting is scheduled to be held in Houston.

Other candidates from their respective districts are as follows: District 1, Tony Lupien, Dartmouth; District 2, Robert Hannah, Delaware; District 3, Jack Stallings, Florida State; District 4, Bob Wren, Ohio University; District 5, L.C. Timm, Iowa State; District 6, Doug Osburn, Rice University; District 7, Jack Rose, Denver University; and District 8, Rod Dedaux, Southern Cal.

Anyone still interested in taking judo this quarter is notified that the course is still available through regular drop and add procedures.

Union Features 'Oh Dad...' Friday, Saturday

This Friday and Saturday nights the Union Film Committee will feature a comedy, Oh Dad, Poor Dad, Mama's Hung You in the Closet and I'm Feeling So Sad. The film will be shown in Moore Auditorium at 7:30 each night. Admission is 50 cents.

Starring Rosalind Russell, Robert Morse, Barbara Harris and Jonathan Winters, this is a way-out comedy about a typical everyday family consisting of a doting mother, two man-eating piranhas, several Venus fly-traps, the baby son, aged 25 (complete with doctor dentons and security blanket), and the father who happens to be a stuffed corpse and hangs around in the closet.

Photographed in Jamaica, this off-beat tale unfolds as Mamma tries to seduce a millionaire, the son resists being seduced by the hotel babysitter, and Pappa tries to give advice from the closet. The extravagance of the weird and wacky film will delight those whose palates relish outre fashions, bizarre characters, and off-color dialogue and situations.

"A NIGHT AT THE OPERA"—the Marx Brothers are at their peak of satire in this flick on pomp surrounding grand opera. Groucho, with dubious assistance from his brothers, crosses the ocean with an Italian opera company and arrange to give two young singers a break. It will be shown at 6:30 and 8:30 p.m. tonight in Moore Auditorium.
